GENFLEX SEAM TAPE REQUIREMENT FOR EPDM ROOFING SYSTEMS

Since the mid 1980's, when we first introduced roofing tapes to the EPDM industry, GenFlex Roofing Systems has continued to support the growing trend in the use of tape products within our EPDM roof systems. As contractors became familiar with products and application techniques and production efficiencies improved, the overall performance of the EPDM system improved. These are very important factors in our decision to require the use of GenFlex™ Seam Tape products for warranted applications.

With that as our goal, effective August 1, 2004, GenFlex will require that GenFlex Seam Tape products be used for all EPDM seams (Field Seams and Flashing Splice Joints) on projects to be covered by a GenFlex Material and Workmanship Warranty.

GenFlex™ G-400 splice adhesive can still be used on GenFlex Limited Membrane warranties and for our over-the-counter GenFlex Limited Tear-Off warranties. However, GenFlex is confident that once you try the GenFlex Seam Tape products, you will want to use these products on all of your EPDM roofing projects.

Please contact your GenFlex Regional Manager, Sales Agent, or the GenFlex Technical Department at 800-443-4272 if you have any questions regarding the new tape-only requirements.
