Introducing The Firestone Building Products Education Network

The new and improved online education portal that gives you access to product training, installation tips, helpful do’s and don’ts and updated roofing 101 content across the Firestone Building Products family of brands in an easily accessible, user-friendly format.

Everything You Need in One Place

For the first time, online training for Firestone Building Products and its family of brands, Firestone, GenFlex and Gaco, are accessible on one training website. Check back for new curriculum paths available soon that qualify for architect continuing education credits and new contractor onboarding programs for those rainy days. It’s all in one place, organized and easy to use.

WHAT YOU GET?

- Centralized access to all Firestone Building Products online training
- Accessible across all devices including laptop, tablet and phone
- Simpler process for accessing information
- Fun leaderboards to see how you are doing compared to other learners

What’s in It for You

The new Firestone Building Products Education Network is an easy way to increase product and roofing knowledge, plus help improve your installation techniques. It’s one more way Firestone Building Products and its brands works hard to provide the tools and resources to help your business succeed.

NOTE: The Firestone Building Products Education Network platform is shared with its parent company, Bridgestone. Users of the site will see Bridgestone and Firestone on the account log-in page but will enjoy a customized Firestone, GenFlex and/or Gaco experience once logged in the site, depending upon the brand(s) users install or sell.

Contact your Sales Rep to learn more about how the new Education Network can benefit your business.
